Dear Families

Overnight the Government has published the list of Key Workers whose children can access our provision next week. The guiding principle is that children should stay home but our school will be open to those students whose parents are in this list.

I have said a number of times this week that we are not living in normal times and again I am going to ask you to do something that is not normal. If you think that you qualify for this provision and want to take it up then please could you email admin@the-elmgreen-school.org.uk stating the name of your child or children and your profession.

I will send out a further letter later today with final details for our education provision next week.
